G. D. Ferrell To Retire On July 1

Dist. Atty. Gilbert D. Ferrell, veteran of six political campaigns in San Mateo County, announced to the board of supervisors Tuesday that he would retire on July 1.

While his assistant, Louis B. Dematteis, probably is in line to succeed Ferrell, the board of supervisors took no action in naming a successor.

Chmn. Henry W. Edmonds said that he wanted all the members of the board to be present when the appointment is made, and predicted that the board probably will act within a week. Supervisor Martin A. Poss was absent from Tuesday's meeting.

Ferrell said that he made no recommendation to the board, but added that "the supervisors know how I feel about Dematteis." Edmonds said that Ferrell has described Demmatteis as a "good man for the job."

The appointment of a successor is in the province of the board," Ferrell declared.

Ferrell, who lives in Redwood City, has been district attorney since Jan. 7, 1935. He was elected to the post four times.

According to county retirement laws, Ferrell could have finished out his elective term which ends in January, 1950. He also is eligible to retire on his birthday, this Friday.

Ferrell, before being elected district attorney in 1934, tried for the post of superior judge in 1932 in a field of six. He ran third.

He said he had the distinction of bing the first deputy district attorney of San Mateo County, a post he held from 1912 to 1915, after being appointed by Franklin Swart, then district attorney but later a superior judge. In 1944 Ferrell ran for the judgeship against the late Maxwell McNutt, but was defeated.

During his three years as deputy, Ferrell handled right-of-way cases with the State Highway Dept., working on the rerouting of El Camino Real.

Dolwig Leads Fight Authorizing Boost In Number of Jurists

Increasing San Mateo County's superior court bench from two to three jurists received the approval of the State Assembly Tuesday but only over stiff opposition.

Richard Dolwig, South San Francisco assemblyman, presented his bill authorizing the increase only to have objections raised by San Francisco Assemblyman George Collins and San Fernando Rep. Julian Beck.

Dolwig pled the county's cause stating that justice was now delayed one year from filing of first briefs by attorneys. He said that even with borrowing judges from adjoining counties to sit on the San Mateo bench for three quarters of each year the calendars of all departments are badly overcrowded. According to Dolwig, San Mateo's jurists have disposed of as many cases per year as have been acted on in counties with six judges.

"There is no need greater in California than in San Mateo County for additional judges," Dolwig said.

George Collins contended the population of the county had increased but the number of litigations filed had remained the same during the last few years. At one point he said court business in the county had dropped off during the last year but later amended that to stating business remained constant.

Beck argued against the increases on economy grounds. He said the additional jurist would not only increase the local taxpayers' burden by paying his salary but there would be added burden in the furnishing of a new courtroom, libraries, court attaches and the additional retirement for court employes.

Support for Dolwig came from H. Allen Smith, Los Angeles assemblyman and chairman of the subcommittee which recommended all additional court departments in the state. Smith reported that San Mateo County judges had tried an annual load of 300 cases above the state average for other jurists.

Belmont Votes Improvement Of Streets

Belmont city councilmen this week directed City Engineer Laurence Brian to draw up plans and specifications for improvements to four streets after the council voted to ask the state for a 40 per cent share of the city's gas tax money.

Under the 40 per cent asked for from the state, city officials thought they would receive "around $4000" to carry out street resurfacing and grading work on Ruth Ave., North Rd., Hillman Ave. and Academy.

Meeting in an adjourned session, councilmen voted to undertake the street improvement work after they heard a report from Brian regarding street conditions within the city.

Brian declared that the streets in the downtown area were "going to pieces badly" but that the street foundation was so poor he did not think they warranted "haphazard" repair at this time.

The city engineer explained that approximately $4000 was available as Belmont's share of the state gas tax money.

The city councilmen voted to undertake what work they could with the present money immediately available.

Sheldon Parker, Adameda de las Pulgas resident, called the council's attention to road conditions on the Alameda but councilmen declared the property owners there would have to take the first action in instituting street repairs.

Most of the repair work to be undertaken using the $4000 is of a "patching" nature, Brian declared. No major street improvements are proposed at the present time.

Repair work on Ruth Ave., North Rd. and Hillman Ave. will be between El Camino Real and Notre Dame.

Work on Academy will be between Ralston and Belburn.

"The inadequate base foundation on most of the streets in Belmont means unless we did a thorough job of street repair, we would be throwing money away," Brian declared.

The city engineer said he thought a complete curb and gutter system was the answer to the street erosion problem in Belmont.

"Then we can get drainage and the street foundations will not be undercut by the water," Brian declared.

Councilmen also voted to buy three lots in the Ponce Ave. area which will be used for a recreation area and "Toddle-Park" for children of the community.

Councilmen voted for the outright purchase of three lots but made no other recommendations.

Girl Hits Mother On Head With Crutch

A 44-year-old Redwood City woman was taken to Community Hospital Monday night after she was beaten over the head with a crutch wielded by her 16-year-old daughter, the sheriff's office reported.

The condition of the woman was reported to be not serious.

The daughter was hysterical when deputy sheriffs arrived at the home, and threatened to commit suicide. She was given a sedative at Community Hospital and then booked at Hillcrest, San Mateo County Juvenile Home, for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon.

Deputies said that according to neighbors there have been frequent fights between the mother and daughter.

To Probe Alcoholism Problem in County

Board Names Group For Study of Chronics

An eight-man committee to study chronic problems was named Tuesday by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

The committee was appointed after San Mateo Judge Francis W. Murphy appeared before the board and asked it to take action on the proposal he made a month ago.

The supervisors named the following to the committee:

James J. McGrath, sheriff of San Mateo County.

Edward I. McAuliffe, judge of the third township justice court in Redwood City.

Dr. Thomas E. Farthing of San Mateo, president of the County Medical Society.

Dr. Harold D. Chope, county health director.

Robert O'Brien, police chief of San Mateo.

John S. Cowgill, chief county probation officer.

The supervisors asked Judge Murphy to call a meeting of the newly-formed committee to launch its investigation.

The judge set the group's organization meeting for 2 p.m. next Tuesday in the police courtroom of the San Mateo Hall of Justice.

No chairman was named to head the organization, and the eight are to pick their own chairman at the meeting.

In urging the board to name the committee Judge Murphy said, that if the committee is properly staffed it will need little or no money to carry out its investigation. If money is needed, the judge continued, he said he could find someone to donate it.

Alcoholism is the fourth most important health problem in the United States, Judge Murphy told the board.

"Some people have written me to say that they believe the sale of liquor should be prohibited.

"I don't subscribe to the theory of prohibition," the judge continued.

"There are 60,000,000 persons in the country who drink socially. I don't think they should be penalized for the 4,000,000 who are chronic alcoholics.

"I don't think prohibition was a success. It was more of a curse, and was responsible for some of the drinking, especially by youngsters."

The function of the committee is to be only to investigate conditions relating to chronic alcoholism, and to report back to the supervisors on possible remedies.

Alameda County pioneered in the field of salvaging human beings, Judge Murphy said, and committees have been appointed in other counties to investigate the problem.

Litton Lab Compromise Ordered

The district attorney was instructed Tuesday to try to achieve a compromise in the dispute between residents of the Eaton Ave. area west of Redwood City and the Litton Laboratories.

The county board of supervisors placed the matter in the hands of Asst. Dist. Atty. Louis B. Dematteis after the residents of the area protested against rebuilding of the laboratory on Eaton Ave. The laboratory burned in 1945.

James C. Lewis, 532 Eaton Ave., spokesman for the group, charged that the building of the laboratory in the residential zone was in violation of county zoning laws, although the planning commission had issued a use permit for the building.

Cuthbert Currie, attorney for the firm, told the supervisors that the building to be erected is for the personal use of Charles V. Litton, head of the firm. Litton is to use it only as a laboratory, and not for manufacturing purposes, Currie declared.

He added that buildings have been on the property and have been used for laboratory work since 1927 at least.

The residents contended that the laboratory should be in an industrial zone. The Litton Engineering Laboratories main plant is in San Carlos.

SM County to Receive $444,832 Vehicle Taxes

SACRAMENTO (WNS) — Revised estimates of in lieu motor vehicle tax funds to be paid to counties for the fiscal year 1949-50 were issued by State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel today.

Under the revised estimate, the county of San Mateo, which has a population of 111,782, will receive $444,832. The population figures are based on the last census.

Kuchel said similar revised estimates had been sent to incorporated cities throughout the state.

Under the revised estimates, the city of Redwood City will receive $84,052.

MP Fire Chief Involved in Crash

A Menlo Park Fire Dist. car driven by Chief Thomas Cuff was slightly damaged Monday afternoon in a minor collision, Menlo Park police said today.

Chief Cuff was en route to investigate a service call when the vehicle he was driving was involved in the collision at Ringwood and Bay Rds.

Steamship Outlets Seek to Block Rates At Redwood City Port

The American-Hawaiian Steamship Co. and the Luckenbach Steamship Co. are attempting to block the application of intercoastal rates to the Port of Redwood City, Port Mgr. Merritt McCarl said Wednesday.

The States Steamship Co. (Quaker Line), he explained, has filed an application with the Interstate Commerce Commission asking for permanent authority to serve the port in the eastbound intercoastal trade, either directly or by transshipment.

American-Hawaiian and Luckenbach, he continued, have filed protests to that application in Washington and may be able to block the move.

Until intercoastal rates are applied to the port no shipments may leave the Peninsula for the East Coast. Port of Redwood City officials have estimated that there are 200,000 tons of Santa Clara and Salinas Valley and Peninsula fruits and vegetables shipped yearly to the East Coast.

They point out that it would cost shippers approximately $1 per ton less if they could ship from the Peninsula.

A formal hearing would require the accumulation of evidence, the filing of exhibits, the cross-examination of witnesses, the filing of briefs, exceptions to briefs, reply briefs, and oral arguments by attorneys before the commission. Such would be expensive for the applicant and might cause the line to withdraw its application.

McCarl claimed that if that happened the two lines protesting it would be acting outside the law. Congress has ruled, he explained, that where the government has spent money to develop a port it is unlawful to interfere with the granting of intercoastal rates. The protests, if they force Quaker Lines to withdraw, would be such an interference, he said.

The federal government has already spent considerable sums to keep a channel dredged to the port and is scheduled to spend even more.

Although there are several steamship companies holding operating certificates in the intercoastal trade route, only the American-Hawaiian and the Luckenbach lines have filed protests.

McCarl said he couldn't see why lines which for many years derived a considerable share of their cargo tonnage from shippers in the Santa Clara and Salinas Valleys have seen fit to endeavor to deprive such shippers of the benefits due them by reason of the development of the Port of Redwood City.

He claimed they showed a preference to shippers in areas adjacent to Oakland, Alameda, Richmond, Stockton and Sacramento, ports to which intercoastal rates have been applied. He especially noted that the rates had been applied to Sacramento which is not even a deep-water port.

Backing the application for the port are shippers in the San Jose area and chambers of commerce in the area, McCarl continued.

"Many shippers and some chambers of commerce," he stated, "have already registered complaints, both verbally and in writing, with executives of the two companies involved and have requested that their protests be withdrawn."

Woodside Voters Okeh Firehouses

Woodside voters approved their $160,000 bond issue for Woodside Fire Dist. improvements by an 11 to 1 margin in voting Tuesday at the main Woodside fire station.

Out of the total 514 votes cast the official count was:

Yes 474.

No 40.

The turnout, called "unusually heavy" by Chief John Volpiano of the Woodside Fire Dept. assured residents of the Woodside Fire Dist. of a new central fire station at Woodside Rd. and a branch station in the center of the Emerald Lake Highlands Dist.

Other bond money will be used to provide funds to install an air horn system at the central station, purchase a triple combination 500-gallon tank wagon, a pickup truck, and a car for the fire chief.

Money will also be provided to build a 1000-gallon water tank, buy additional fire hoses and equip fire trucks with two-way radio.

The fire district has already acquired property on Woodside Rd. 1000 feet east of the Greersburg School. The proposed central station, estimated to cost $80,000, including equipment, will now be constructed on that site, according to Volpiano.

Volpiano said that architects are now working on plans for the new fire station.

The passage of the bond issue also means that the board of fire underwriters will consider a reduction in the fire insurance rates for the fire district, according to Paul B. Fay, chairman of the district.

Volpiano, one of the main proponents of the bond issue, said he was "pleased with the outcome of the election."

"It assures us that we can go ahead with a program of fire protection that will mark our district as being second to none in that area," Volpiano declared.

Postpone Action On Cardroom

Action on a permit for a cardroom at the Willow Club was postponed Tuesday by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors after residents of the North Palo Alto area protested granting of the permits.

Gen. A. W. Waldron, manager of the Veterans Hospital across the street from the Willow Club, told the supervisors that the hospital contained 1400 mental patients. The hospital policy, the general said, is to give the patients liberty when they are recovering.

Later in the discussion he charged that the Willow Club sells beer and that both patients and employes have returned drunk to the hospital.

Harvey E. Mabus, one of the operators of the club, said that Congress has ruled that 3.2 per cent beer is not intoxicating.

Mabus also complained that the protests were received 60 days after the application for one card table was filed, after he had altered the premises to conform with other governmental rules.

Coyote Pt. Faces Partial Shutdown

A partial shutdown was facing the Coyote Point housing project as a result of a conference between county and federal officials.

County Bldg. Insp. A. W. Russell wrote the board of supervisors today that Frank Bloom, director of the county housing authority, had agreed to stop renting Coyote Point apartments which have no bedrooms.

Russell said that there are 28 such apartments in the veterans housing project. The apartments are to be occupied until the present renters move out, but no new tenants will be accepted.

The decision was one of the points arrived at in the conferences, aimed at making the project more safe for tenants.

Vacation Is Just Ahead, So Why Let Sequoia Burn?

Usually when flames are being extinguished there is some noise from an audience but Tuesday's crowd was mentally sitting on its hands and definitely was not giving any boosts for the efforts.

The fire was in Sequoia High School.

Reported at 10:48 a.m., it had been started in a wall incinerator and was put out before any serious damage was done.

Chief Joe Lodi said that the incinerator had been surrounded by cement which heated up from the fire on the inside. Over a period of years that process dried out the wooden joists adjacent to the cement and today the joists finally caught on fire.

Many of the students who watched the extinguishing process, of course, would just as soon have seen their workhouse burn down.

Police Glad, Too, School's Ending

Redwood City's police are waiting just as impatiently as the students for school to let out this Friday for the Summer. But for a different reason.

The warm weather, Sgt. Cole Stafford said, each year causes the youngsters to get restless and consequently to get into more jams with the police.

Stafford pointed out that in January police contacted only 12 youngsters while in May they contacted 30 and that so far this month they have contacted four.

The day school lets out, he predicted, there would be a lull in juvenile delinquency for a while and police would have some quiet.

For the record, a "contact" is not necessarily an arrest. Usually police merely chew out a youngster they catch at a minor offense. It usually takes three contacts before the cops start laying down the law.

The victims were:

The wall collapsed after a comparatively minor fire in a wastepaper stockpile had been just about extinguished. Novak and his aides were directing the placement of hoselines to quell the last of the fire when the wall fell without warning.

Police said it came down with a crash resembling an explosion.

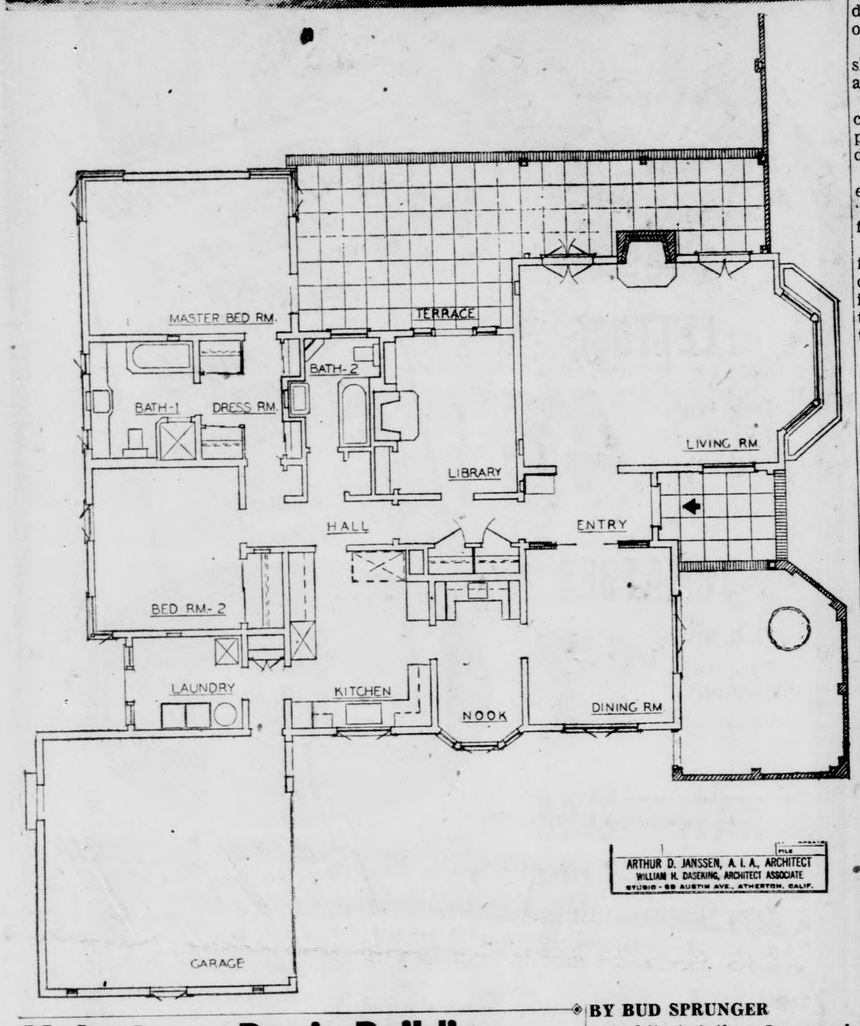
Peninsula Homes for Americans

TRIBUNE PHOTO



BY BUD SPRUNGER

Architect Arthur Janssen designed today's Times Gazette Peninsula home which was constructed on an 88-foot wide lot in Atherton. The lot is on Rittenhouse Ave. near El Camino Real.

The 2000 square foot house contains a living room, an entry, a dining room, a breakfast nook complete with a sink, a kitchen, a laundry, a library, a fireplace, two bedrooms, two baths and a two-car garage.

Over the garage is space for a maid's room and bath.

Outside the living room bay window is a brick planting box which is flanked on the other side of the front door by a brick wall which furnishes privacy for a patio.

The patio itself opens off the dining room and contains a large live oak. It can be reached either from the dining room or from a porch which shields the front doorway.

Sanitary Facilities Needed on Coast

The condition of San Mateo County's Coastside, which had 200,000 people on it Sunday, and which has only two toilets, was puzzling the board of supervisors today.

Ray Higgins, Sharp Park real estate operator, made an eloquent appeal in behalf of Mrs. Wilma Herling, who is charged with running a hot dog stand on the Sharp Park Beach in violation of county zoning laws.

Mrs. Herling's stand, Higgins declared, is about the only place in the north end of the county where picnickers can find toilets.

"Do you think people should be made to drive 40 miles to.....? It's ridiculous!" Higgins exploded.

The planning commission has called the operation of the hot dog stand a "flagrant violation of county law."

Higgins, however, said there should be similar places at Dunes and Thornton Beaches.

"I gave that beach to the county and the county agreed to put in sanitary facilities," he declared.

"Yeah, we put them in," Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch retorted, "and the people tore them down for firewood."

The hot dog violation was referred back to the planning commission with instruction to investigate what could be done to allow Mrs. Herling, a widow, to continue operating.

More Quality Construction Going Into Today's Houses

Trade reports indicate that an increasing percentage of new dwellings are featuring quality construction, as builders prepare for more competitive selling and renting markets.

With the volume of new home building gradually alleviating the housing shortage, builders realize that in the not so distant future buyers and renters will be able to be more selective in their choice of quarters. Consequently many owners, in constructing homes and apartments, are emphasizing quality materials which enhance the livability and attractiveness of a home are being included on an increasing scale in construction specifications.

In prewar years when housing was relatively plentiful, veteran observers recall, it was not uncommon to see houses and apartments remain vacant for comparatively long periods simply because they lacked certain features which discriminating buyers and renters demanded. Many residential units drew low rentals for the same reason.

To attract desirable tenants, owners often were called upon to install various improvements in the property. In old houses, for example, where inferior flooring had become worn and unsightly, it frequently was covered by attractive new flooring of durable oak. Good floors which improved the appearance of a home and were easy to maintain stood high on the list of features desired by prospective tenants.

This is easily understood when one takes into account the important functions of flooring. An indispensable structural part of a house, flooring receives the most wear and tear. It also plays a leading role in decorative plans.

Reflecting the current heavy demand for high quality flooring are reports from builders that more homes than ever before are being equipped with floors of oak and other hardwoods.

Burglar Raids Woodside Cabin

The Woodside cabin of a San Francisco man was ransacked by thieves of several hundred dollars worth of belongings, the sheriff's office reported today.

William C. Bryne reported the burglary after he went to his cabin Sunday after a week's absence. The cabin is on the old La Honda Rd.

Articles taken included a Japanese rifle, a sporting pistol, a .22 caliber rifle, a radio-phonograph, 10 sport shirts and seven bottles of whisky.

Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore said that the burglar apparently wrapped his loot in a bedsheet.

Convention Bill Rapped by Board

A claim for a trip to Chicago by Dr. Paul Holmer, director of the San Mateo County Child Guidance Clinic, was under fire before the board of supervisors Tuesday.

Dr. Holmer submitted a claim for $293.87 for his expenses on the April trip to attend a meeting of the National Orthopsychiatric Society, and a psychiatric clinic.

The trip, the supervisors declared, was not authorized by them. Father Thomas Regan, chairman of the child guidance commission, wrote that his group had approved the trip.

Chmn. Henry W. Edmonds pointed out that while there are several hundred dollars in the budget for conferences. Dr. Holmer went to a "convention."

"He's a half-time man," Edmonds declared. "He went to Chicago to attend a psychiatric meeting.

"I can't see why the county should pay all of the expenses. He was not authorized by this board."

"How often does a member of this board go away without authorization?" Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey demanded.

Hickey then made a motion, which was passed, to refer the matter to the district attorney for a check on the legality of the claim.

Tannahill Ends Navy Training

James D. Tannahill, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Tannahill, 333 4th Ave., is completing his basic training at the naval training center at San Diego.

According to the local navy recruiting office, junior college graduates and men who have successfully completed two years of college are being selected for the navy flight school at Pensacola, Fla.

Graduates of the 18-month course receive an ensign's commission in the navy at the same time they receive their wings.

Volunteers Begin Building Booths for RC Rodeo Fete

Nearly 100 volunteers Sunday began work on construction of booths for the 1949 Redwood City Fourth of July celebration.

The volunteers were headed by members of the carpenters union and William Laing, president of the local as well as an official of the Peninsula Celebrations Assn.

This year's construction consisted of putting in place collapsible walls which will be retained after the celebration for use next year. In past years the volunteers have had to construct booths from odd pieces of lumber.

Sunday's work at the rodeo grounds on Lower Broadway heralded the opening of an intensive four-week program of activities in Redwood City which will be climaxed by the three-day rodeo and carnival, July 2, 3 and 4.

John Rolla, president of the PCA, announced that tomorrow is the last day for local residents to obtain tickets for "Redwood City Day" at the Ice Follies in San Francisco.

Large Throng Views Sequoia Services

One of the largest crowds in the history of the event witnessed the annual senior service for graduating seniors at Sequoia Union High School at 7:30 Sunday night.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Ronald H. White of the First Methodist Church of Redwood City.

Ministers and church organizations in the Sequoia High School Dist. participated in the program.

Campers Blamed In Woodside Fire

Careless Sunday campers who left a spark in their campfire were probably responsible for the brush fire in Huddart Park at 10:40 p.m. yesterday, according to Woodside Fire Chief John Volpiano.

The Woodside Fire Dept. answered the call before the blaze got out of control but the fire did some damage to the park's grassland.

Harry Bridges Arraigned On Two Federal Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — CIO longshore leader Harry Bridges, who twice before rode out government efforts to deport him, was arraigned today on federal charges of perjury and conspiracy in obtaining his citizenship.

Bridges was indicted by a federal grand jury May 25. He was accused of lying when he testified at his 1945 naturalization hearing that he was not then and never had been a Communist.

The Australian-born Bridges is president of the leftwing International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. One of his top aides, ILWU Vice Pres. J. R. Robertson, was to be arraigned with him on a charge of aiding in the conspiracy.

Henry Schmidt, another top ILWU official now directing the union's waterfront strike in Hawaii, was indicted on the same charge as Robertson. Schmidt's arraignment was postponed a week.

The grand jury ended its investigation into other phases of the case late yesterday. It returned no more indictments.

Special Asst. Atty. Gen. F. Joseph Donohue said the inquiry had revealed "substantial" Communist infiltration into western labor unions. "Any such infiltration is most alarming," he said.

William Schneiderman, chairman of the Communist party in California, was one of the final witnesses before the grand jury. Donohue said he was dismissed after declining to say whether he was a delegate to the Communists' national convention in 1936. He felt a reply might be incriminating, Donohue said.

Other witnesses yesterday included Roy Pyle, former national officer of a ship radio operators' union. He refused to answer questions on grounds of self-incrimination.

Schneiderman handed reporters a prepared statement as he came out of the jury room. He asserted the investigation was "political intimidation of the labor movement" and assailed its "police state methods."

"I refuse to be a party to star chamber proceedings which are aimed at union busting," Schneiderman said.

80 Y-Indian Guides Attend Meeting

Eighty members of Y-Indian Guides, the father and son movement of the YMCA, attended the Sequoia Long House meeting held over the past weekend at Camp Jones Gulch near La Honda.

The group elected Hal Warden as the Long House chieftain for the 1949-50 season. Other officers are Robert Younger, tally-keeper and Dwight Divird of Belmont as the treasurer. These officers and two delegates from each of the groups will compose the Sequoia council.

In addition to swimming, which was the popular activity of the camping weekend, fathers and sons enjoyed baseball and riflery competition. An amateur show on Saturday night featured songs and instrumental numbers by various members of the tribes in attendance. Movies and kodacrome films of the Y-Indian Guides were shown to the dads in the closing nightly session. Included in these were techniques for improvement of the club activities.

Sequoia YMCA Executive Secy. Kenneth Osman acted as coordinator for the program and Charles Van Winkle, member of the Pacific Southwest YMCA, addressed the delegations during the program. Also attending from the "Y" Board of Directors were John Waldier and Phil Patten.

Study Bill to Stagger Terms of Grand Juries

SACRAMENTO (WNS)—Consideration was being given today by the senate to a proposal which would permit the metropolitan counties to stagger grand jury terms.

The bill, SB 636, authored by Sen. Gerald O'Gara of San Francisco, is endorsed by an association of former grand jurors.

Under the terms of the bill one-half of the grand jury would be selected every six months permitting a carryover of members each term.

Lloyd Wilson of San Francisco told the senate judiciary committee which has approved the proposal, that it would permit continuity of activity by grand juries.

He said under present methods the work of a grand jury is never concluded because new grand jurors are not familiar with the investigations conducted by their predecessors.

Sen. Ed Regan of Shasta County declared the proposal "a sound one" and said he believed all counties should adopt the procedure.

Optimists Plan To Attend Parley

The Redwood City Optimist Club discussed plans for the forthcoming convention of the Optimist International, at its meeting this week.

The international convention will be held in San Francisco June 23 to 25, and will be preceded by the convention of the 20th District of Optimist International, of which the local club is a member.

Fred Grafton of the local club is lieutenant governor of the 20th district. Delegates to the convention include Fred Silvey, president; Thomas Gurnee and Robert Downs, vice presidents; John J. Laznibat, secretary; Ed Mason, treasurer; E. B. Berman and Art Bartschat.

SF Changes Frozen Food Law

San Francisco has taken the first step in permitting the sale of frozen meats there between 6 p.m. and 8 a.m. and the question arises, will San Mateo County do likewise?

Meeting this week, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors voted unanimously to remove restrictions on the sale of frozen meats and poultry on Sundays and holidays and after 6 p.m. week days.

Final action on the matter will be taken in two weeks, after which the measure will be sent to Mayor Elmer Robinson. If he also signs the decision, the new law will go into effect 30 days later.

In San Mateo County, meanwhile, action on the matter will not be so simple, according to employer and labor officials.

For one thing, San Mateo County has no countywide regulation governing the sale of meats, as San Francisco County has. Sale of frozen meats and poultry after 6 p.m. and on Sundays and holidays is prohibited in practically every city in San Mateo County but only because practically every city has a law to that effect.

For another thing, repeal of the individual city laws would not be a simple thing because meat sales in each city are also governed by contract with the AFL butchers' union. Merely repealing the city laws and permitting sales of frozen meats after specified hours would be a violation of the employers-butchers' contract.

Summer Swim Opens June 18

Clyde Devine, water safety chairman for Sequoia Chapter, American Red Cross, today announced that a summer swim campaign would start on June 18 at Sequoia High School pool.

This campaign will be conducted by the Redwood City Recreation Dept. and the Sequoia Red Cross chapter, according to Devine, with the pool facilities being provided by Sequoia High School.

Alfred (Red) Morton, director of recreation for Redwood City, has assigned Howard Bogie as chief instructor for the 10-lesson course, which will be open to beginners between the ages of 8 and 11 years. Classes will be scheduled each half hour between 9:30 a.m. and 12 noon. Registration began at Sequoia Chapter headquarters, 1794 Broadway, on Wednesday and will continue through today, to 4 p.m.

Instruction will be free, but children must provide towels and swim suits.

Devine and Morton pointed out that because of limited pool facilities and instructors, it will not be possible to accommodate all age groups at this time.

"Much as we would like to take all-comers," Devine said, "this just is not possible, and we sincerely hope that everyone will agree with us that it is important to give the beginners of summer camp age an opportunity to get some water experience before they go off to camp."

The classes will continue for 10 Saturdays through Aug. 20, and officials have asked that only those who intend to complete the course sign up.

Serve Safeway's Lamb Shoulder Roast At Our Risk

IT'S FROM TOP GRADES OF LAMB . . . selected by experts who know quality

Safeway experts buy only Government graded lamb—the top U. S. Government grades. And our lamb shoulder roasts are cut from the same quality lamb as the most expensive leg of lamb. (Safeway also buys only top U. S. Government grades of beef, only top grades of pork and veal)

IT'S AGED FOR TENDERNESS . . . the way finest hotels do

In the specially-designed aging rooms (at our remarkable 2-acre meat plant) we age all Safeway meat the full time required to develop its peak natural tenderness, juiciness and fine flavor. Just the way famous hotel chefs do

IT'S TRIMMED BEFORE WEIGHING . . . you don't pay for excess bone or fat

Lots of delicious eating meat on this lamb shoulder roast as Safeway cuts it. It's a full five ribs. Neck trimmed off. Shank removed and all the round bone chops left on. All shoulder chops, too, remain on this roast when it goes on the scale at Safeway. (No chops removed to be sold at a higher price.)

The guarantee printed below holds good on ALL meat purchases at Safeway markets

TAKE HOME this Safeway lamb shoulder roast (or any cut or kind of Safeway meat)... Cook and serve it the way you prefer

EAT EVERY BIT OF IT... judge the tenderness, juiciness. flavor

IF YOU DON'T LIKE IT—for any reason whatsoever—your own Safeway market man will give all your money back, without return of the meat.
